BETTING ON THE ICE BREAKING

(Correspondence Associated Press)

NENANA, Alaska, April 7.—The care taken in arrangements made for observing the exact time of the breakup of ice in the great Yukon river every spring, on which thousands of dollars change hands, reminds one of the detail work connected with the winner and places in an automobile race.

The Yukon ice breakup might also be termed the "Northland derby," from the interest it attracts. So also the breakup of the Tanana river in Alaska territory. Take, for example, the preparations made here. A stake, bearing a flag, has been firmly imbedded in the ice on the bosom of the river, to which a taut wire leads to a stiff leg derrick on a dock. On the derrick is a switch connected by wire to a bell in the Nenana power house, with a trip attachment from the bell to the clock. A hook attached at the end of the taut wire leading from the ice stake to the derrick supports a weight attached to the handle of the switch on the derrick.

The stake on the ice is set 50 feet upstream from the derrick, and when the ice has moved 100 feet, the taut wire from the stake to the derrick will break and release the weight, which throws the switch, rings the bell and stops the clock at the same time. A duly appointed committee has charge of the clock, inspecting its time daily for correctness.

Ice "pools" are formed on the time of the ice breakup and usually a part of the "pot" goes to some charity. Besides, hundreds of dollars are wagered in other ways.

Recent advices recorded the breakup of ice in the Yukon at Dawson at noon on May 10, and the ice in the Tanana began moving some days prior.

DISCOVERY IS MADE NEAR AUSTIN CAMP

Last Saturday evening John P. Beezonne, who owns a piece of mining property in Smith Creek valley, came to Austin, on his way to the property, where he will prosecute development work. He was accompanied by H. A. Holmberg, a mining engineer and general mining man from Salt Lake City, who will make an examination of the property, says the Revelle.

Mr. Holmberg recently came from Comet district, 26 miles from Pioche, and says that a find has been made at that place which promises to be the greatest boom that Nevada ever had.

Some leasers have uncovered a body of lead-silver ore there which is about 18 feet in width, and an ore shoot four feet wide running through it runs 46 per cent lead, and carries 1147 ounces of silver to the ton and 25 of an ounce of gold. A shaft has been sunk to a depth of 15 feet when Mr. Holmberg was there, and the ore body was solid and seemed to be widening with depth.

On the surface, from rock which had been broken off the ledge in the process of erosion, these leasers gathered 27 tons of ore, which they shipped to a smelter at Salt Lake, and the shipment netted them $1600, in spite of the long and expensive haul to the railroad, and smelter charges.

Other mines adjoining the place where the big find was made have been worked at a profit for some time and Mr. Holmberg predicts a big excitement in mining circles as soon as the discovery gets abroad among mining men.

NAME TEACHERS FOR UNIVERSITY STAFF

At a recent meeting of the board of regents of the University of Nevada five new professors were chosen for the university staff for the ensuing semester.

Miss Abbie L. Day of New York city was elected professor of education. She is the sister of Miss Grace Day and has been in charge of Minnesota, California, Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey schools.

Dr. W. E. Lowther, pastor of the Reno Methodist church, recently resigned to take charge of Romanic languages. He speaks six languages and has taught in universities situated in the Orient.

Gilbert B. Menard, who for the past seven years has been instructor at the agricultural experiment station, will take charge of the physics department.

Raymond O. Courtwright will have charge of the athletics. Courtwright is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

DEATH OF M. W. SLATER NEVADA PIONEER PACKER

His search for health in vain, U. M. Slater, big meat packing man and one of the builders of the cattle and pack industries of this state, died yesterday morning at Byron Springs, Cal. Death was caused from rheumatism of the heart. He had been at that sanatorium since New Year's.

Urotes Mager Slater founded the Nevada Meat Company, which was the predecessor of the Nevada Packing company, and which he sold to the Swift people. He was one of the foremost financial leaders of the state and accumulated a large fortune in organizing the first packing company in Nevada.

GOLD LEDGE FOUND

After months of search the lost ledge in the South Star mine, in the Rough and Ready district, a few miles west of Grass Valley, Calif., has been rediscovered and ore running upwards of $100 per ton extracted. The ledge, which was cut at a depth of about 200 feet, is declared to be a strong one and the strike is regarded as very important. George D. Freebone, a mining engineer, directed the search.

Good ore was formerly taken from the South Star, but the ledge was lost more than a dozen years ago and all efforts to relocate it until now have proved futile.

The South Star property is situated about five miles from the famous North Star, one of the greatest gold producers in California.

NEVADA'S CREDIT IS FIRST-CLASS IN EAST

Nevada's credit is evidently at par in the east. The state revenue board has received many inquiries from eastern brokers asking for the terms of the state bonds soon to be issued and advising that they wish to bid for them when they are ready for the market.

It is hardly possible that the bonds will go onto the open market, as most of them will be absorbed by the school fund investments and also by the industrial insurance commission. When such bonds as the highway or the soldier settlement bonds are ready the new board of investment will undoubtedly see that the interest is secured at home, and in funds that need this investment, without paying a premium.

On Monday evening, June 18th, Reno Encampment No. 5, of Reno, will be the hosts. They will entertain the grand encampment as well as all members of the Order at a reception and dance. WALNUT BRAND WORTH $10,000

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 28.—From branding cattle to branding walnuts! Thus, from one viewpoint, is epitomized the development of the west.

The California Walnut Growers' association has offered $10,000 for a device which will place its brand in a satisfactory and inexpensive manner upon every walnut in its yearly pack.

In response, the association has received nearly 7000 letters, several hundred blueprints and other engineering plans and scores of miniature machines, which, their inventors declare, will perform the work.

One suggestion was the wrapping of the nuts in branded tissue paper, but this was rejected because it would conceal the nut which is its own best advertisement.

The association stipulates that any device submitted must be capable of branding at least 2000 pounds of walnuts an hour.

Be capable of construction in units, so that a branding capacity of 15,000 pounds an hour can be attained.

Not to cost for operation more than 10 cents per 100 pounds.

As walnuts run about 40 to the pound, the machine ultimately to be accepted must brand 400 for one cent.

PETE BUEL INJURED

The Pioche Record states Pete Buel, well known here as former senator from Clark county, met with a serious accident while inspecting a mine at that place. Rock falling from the roof hurled him and inflicted many painful bruises. Several ribs were broken. He has been placed in a hospital and was shown improvement. The many friends of Pete here will regret to learn of his accident.

Glanders in the Cat Family.

Glanders is an ailment usually associated with horses, but an outbreak of this disease among the lions and tigers of the Rome Zoological garden is reported in the Annual d'Igiene. The disease is known to have been transmitted from horses to lions, tigers and leopards, and the domestic cat was shown susceptible by laboratory inoculation.

Beauty and Service.

A real woman can make a home in a desert out of a dry goods box or in a convent in France. But do not think that she does it by the wave of a magic wand. She does it because she gives her heart and hands and head to it; because she rises early and works late; because she loves beauty as she does her own life, and because she realizes that service is its handmaid.—New York Evening Mail.
